

(World Problems, Peace Studies, Environmental Science, and Humanities and Ethics) as they earn 30 core and elective credits as well as 120 hours of community service.

This opportunity for analysis, examination and real world application will be the hallmark of the experience of The Woolman Semester. Students will have a learning and service work camp-type experience that will stand out on college applications as an exceptional addition to their academic record. ## Storytelling Resource Barb and Breeze Luetke-Stahlman would like to spread the word that they are available for Quaker storytelling for teens, adult young Friends, and adult programs. Breeze, 25, currently writes a column for Friends Journal about remarkable, contemporary AYFs and Barb has published a book, 17th Century Remarkable Quaker Youth. Together Barb and Breeze share stories across the centuries, linking them by common themes, and including time for reflection and comment. The team is interested in retreat, monthly, regional, and yearly meeting invitations. Travel expenses and registration would need to be covered. Please contact Barb Luetke-Stahlman at barbls@msn.com for more information.

Quaker Youth Pilgrimage

Friends World Committee for Consultation Section of the Americas announces that the 2004 QUAKER YOUTH PILGRIMAGE will take place in England, Germany and the Netherlands from July 16-August 14, 2004. Young Friends who will be between 16-18 years at that time are invited to apply for the chance to explore Quaker history as they travel, among other places, to Woodbrooke and the 1652 country of England. As they carry out a service project, participants will form a community and lasting friendships, experience different Friends' traditions and forms of worship and gain an understanding of Quaker process. The Quaker Youth Pilgrimage is an opportunity to begin a lifetime of spiritual growth. FWCC is also looking for two adult facilitators to accompany the group.

For more information or to request an application form, please contact FWCC, 1506 Race St., Philadelphia, PA, 19102; (215) 241-7250 or email us at Americas@fwcc.quaker.org. Deadlines for applications are December 15, 2003, for adult leaders and January 15, 2004 for pilgrims.
